(2) A borough council may, for the purpose of performing any of their duties under this section, carry any sewer or works through, across or under any street or any place laid out as, or intended for, a street, or through or under any cellar or vault situate under any street, and into, through or under any land whatsoever, and where it is necessary for the purpose aforesaid to carry any sewer or work outside the county, may, subject as hereinafter provided, execute works outside the county and may maintain, repair and cleanse such works:

Provided that for the purposes of this Schedule and of the order—

- (c) where any land to which the order applies is glebe land or other land belonging to an ecclesiastical benefice, the order shall provide that sums agreed upon or awarded for the purchase of that land, or to be paid by way of compensation for damage to be sustained by the owner by reason of severance or other injury affecting the land, shall not be paid as directed by the Lands Clauses Acts, but shall be paid to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, to be applied by them as money paid to them upon a sale, under the Ecclesiastical Leasing Acts, of land belonging to a benefice.

2. The council by whom a compulsory purchase order is submitted to the Minister shall, in such manner as may be prescribed,—

- (a) publish the order; and

3. Where a compulsory purchase order is submitted to the Minister, he may, after holding such inquiries (if any) as he thinks fit, confirm the order either without modification or subject to such modifications as he thinks fit :

Provided that if, within the prescribed period, a person interested in any land to which the order applies gives notice to the Minister objecting to the acquisition of that land and specifying the grounds of his objection, then, unless the objection is withdrawn, the Minister shall forthwith cause a public inquiry into the objection to be held in the locality in which the land in question is situate, and before confirming the order, shall consider the report of the person by whom the inquiry is held.

FIFTH SCHEDULE.

A.D. 1936.

Section 282.

PROVISIONS FOR SECURING THE ABATEMENT OF NUISANCES WHICH MAY BE DEALT WITH SUMMARILY.

1. In this Schedule, unless the context otherwise requires, the expression "nuisance to which this Schedule applies" means any matter which, by virtue of any of the provisions of this Act, is a nuisance which may be dealt with summarily under this Act, and the expression "smoke nuisance" does not include a smoke nuisance arising on a ship habitually used as a sea-going ship.

2. It shall be the duty of every officer of a sanitary authority, and of every relieving officer, to give, in accordance with the regulations of the authority whose officer he is, information to the sanitary authority of the existence in their district of any nuisance to which this Schedule applies.

It shall be the duty of the county council and of every sanitary authority to make regulations for the purpose of this paragraph.

3. A written intimation of the existence in the district of a sanitary authority of a nuisance to which this Schedule applies shall be served by an officer of the authority on a person who may be required to abate the nuisance, and it shall be the duty of the sanitary authority to give such directions to their officers as will secure that the intimation required by this paragraph is given as soon as may be.

4. A sanitary authority, upon receiving any information as to the existence in their district of a nuisance to which this Schedule applies shall, if satisfied of the existence of the nuisance, serve on the person by reason of whose act, default or sufferance the nuisance arose or continues, or (if that person cannot be found) on the occupier or owner of the premises on which the nuisance exists, a notice requiring him to abate the nuisance within the period specified in the notice, and to do such things as may be necessary for that purpose; and the notice may, if the sanitary authority think fit, specify any works to be executed for the purpose aforesaid:

Provided that, where the nuisance arises from any want or defect of a structural character, or where the premises are unoccupied, the notice aforesaid shall be served on the owner of the premises.

The sanitary authority may also, by a notice under the foregoing provisions of this paragraph or by further notice, require the person on whom the notice is served to do what is necessary for preventing the recurrence of the nuisance to which the notice relates and, if they think it desirable, specify any works to be executed for that purpose, and a notice containing such a requirement may, notwithstanding that the nuisance to which it relates may for the time being have been abated, be served if the sanitary authority consider that the nuisance is likely to recur on the same premises.

A notice authorised to be served under this paragraph is in this Schedule referred to as “a nuisance notice.”

5. Where the person causing a nuisance to which this Schedule applies cannot be found, and it is clear that the nuisance neither arose nor continues by reason of any act, default or sufferance on the part of the occupier or owner of the premises on which it exists, the sanitary authority may themselves abate the nuisance and may do what is necessary to prevent the recurrence thereof.

6. Where a nuisance notice is served on any person, then if either—

- (a) the nuisance to which the notice relates arose by reason of the wilful act or default of that person; or
- (b) that person fails to comply with any of the requirements of the notice within the period specified therein, he shall (whether or not an order under the next following paragraph has been made in respect of him) be liable to a fine not exceeding, in a case where the notice relates to a smoke nuisance, fifty pounds or, in any other case, ten pounds.

7. Where a nuisance notice is served on any person, then if—

- (a) that person fails to comply with any of the requirements of the notice within the period specified therein; or
- (b) the nuisance to which the order relates, although abated since the service of the notice, is, in the opinion of the sanitary authority, likely to recur on the same premises, the sanitary authority shall make a complaint to a petty sessional court, and the court hearing the complaint may make as respects the said person a summary order (in this Schedule referred to as “a nuisance order”).

8. A nuisance order may be an abatement order, a prohibition order or a closing order, or a combination of such orders.

An abatement order may require a person to comply with all or any of the requirements of the nuisance notice in connection with which the order is made, or otherwise to abate the nuisance within the period specified in the order.

A prohibition order may prohibit the recurrence of a nuisance.

A closing order may prohibit the use of a dwelling-house for human habitation, and shall be made if, but only if, it is proved to the satisfaction of the court that, by reason of a nuisance, the dwelling-house is unfit for human habitation; and the court making a closing order may impose a fine not exceeding twenty pounds on the person as respects whom the order is made.

9. An abatement order or prohibition order shall, if the person as respects whom the order is made so requires or the court considers it desirable, specify the works to be executed by the said person for the purpose of abating, or preventing a recurrence of, the nuisance to which the order relates.

A petty sessional court, if satisfied that a dwelling-house in respect of which a closing order is in force has been rendered fit for human habitation, may declare that it is so satisfied and revoke the closing order.

10. Where two convictions for offences relating to the overcrowding of a house or part of a house in the district of a sanitary authority have taken place within a period of three months (whether the persons convicted were or were not the same), a petty sessional court may, on the application of the sanitary authority, make an order directing that the house be closed for such period as the court thinks necessary.

11. Where a petty sessional court is satisfied that neither the person by reason of whose act, default or sufferance a nuisance to which this Schedule applies arose or continues, nor the owner nor the occupier of the premises on which such a nuisance exists, is known or can be found, any nuisance order made by the court with respect to that nuisance may be addressed to the sanitary authority, and, if so addressed, shall be executed by them.

12. If any person fails to comply with an abatement order, then, subject to the following provisions of this Schedule, he shall, unless he proves that he has used all due diligence to carry out the order, be guilty of an offence and liable to a fine not exceeding, in a case where the order relates to a smoke nuisance forty shillings, or in any other case twenty shillings, for every day on which the offence continues.

If any person knowingly and wilfully contravenes a prohibition order or a closing order, he shall, subject to the provisions of this Schedule relating to appeals, be guilty of an offence and liable to a fine not exceeding, in a case where the order relates to a smoke nuisance five pounds, or in any other case forty shillings, for every day on which the offence continues.

13. There shall be no appeal to quarter sessions against a nuisance order, unless it is or includes a prohibition order or a closing order or requires the execution of structural works.

14. In the event of an appeal to quarter sessions against a nuisance order, no person shall, by reason of any contravention of, or non-compliance with, the order, be liable to any fine until after the determination or abandonment of the appeal :

Provided that, if the appeal is dismissed or abandoned, the appellant shall be liable to a fine not exceeding, in a case where the order relates to a smoke nuisance forty shillings, or in any other case twenty shillings, for every day during which he has contravened or failed to comply with the order, unless he satisfies the court before which proceedings are taken for the recovery of the fine, that there was substantial ground for the appeal and that the appeal was not brought merely for the purpose of delay ; and if the appeal is dismissed, the court of quarter sessions hearing the appeal may, on dismissing it, impose the fine as if it was a petty sessional court.

15. Where a person appeals to quarter sessions against a nuisance order, no work shall, save as hereinafter mentioned, be done under the order until after the determination or abandonment of the appeal :

Provided that, if the court by which the order was made is of opinion that the continuance of the nuisance to which it relates will be injurious or dangerous to health, and that the immediate abatement thereof will not cause any injury which cannot be compensated by damages, that court may, notwithstanding that the appeal is pending, authorise the sanitary authority immediately to abate the nuisance ; so, however, that—

- (a) if the appeal is allowed, the sanitary authority shall pay to the person against whom the order was made the amount of any damage sustained by him by reason of the abatement of the nuisance by the authority ; and
- (b) if the appeal is dismissed or abandoned, the sanitary authority may recover from the said person the expenses incurred by them in abating the nuisance.

16. The sanitary authority—

- (1) may, for the purpose of ascertaining whether any nuisance to which this Schedule applies exists on any premises, enter those premises at any hour by day or, in the case of a nuisance arising in respect of any business carried on in the premises, at any hour when that business is being, or is usually, carried on therein ; and
- (2) where such a nuisance as aforesaid has been ascertained to exist on any premises, or a nuisance order has been made in respect of a nuisance existing on any premises, may enter the premises at any hour by day or, in the case of a nuisance arising in respect of any business carried on in the premises, at any hour when that business is being, or is usually, carried on therein, until the nuisance is abated, or the works required by the order to be executed are completed, or (in the case of a closing order) the order is revoked, as the case may be; and

- (3) where a nuisance order in respect of any premises has been contravened or not complied with, may, for the purpose of executing the order, enter the premises at all reasonable hours, including hours during which business is being, or is usually, carried on in the premises.

The sanitary authority may enter the premises to which a nuisance order relates and may abate or remove the nuisance and do whatever is necessary in the execution of the order.

17. Any matter or thing removed by a sanitary authority in abating, or doing what is necessary to prevent the recurrence of, a nuisance to which this Schedule applies, may be sold by public auction, or, if the authority think the circumstances of the case require it, may be otherwise sold, or may be disposed of without sale.

The money arising from the sale of any matter or thing under this paragraph may be retained by the sanitary authority and applied in payment of the expenses incurred by them in connection with the nuisance, and the surplus (if any) shall be paid, on demand, to the owner of the matter or thing.

18. Where a nuisance order is made, the reasonable expenses incurred in obtaining or enforcing the order or making the complaint upon which, or serving the nuisance notice in connection with which, the order was made, shall be deemed to be money paid for the use, and at the request,—

- (a) of the person against whom the order was made, or
(b) if the order is addressed to the sanitary authority, of the person by whose act, default or sufferance the nuisance was caused.

Where, on any complaint under this Schedule, a nuisance order is not made, but the nuisance in respect of which the complaint is made is proved to have existed at the time when the nuisance notice relating thereto was served or the complaint was made, the reasonable expenses incurred in serving the notice or making the complaint shall be deemed to be money paid for the use, and at the request, of the person by whose act, default or sufferance the nuisance was caused.

A.D. 1936.

5TH SCH.

Any sum recoverable by virtue of this paragraph from any person being the owner of any premises may be recovered from the owner for the time being of those premises.

19. Expenses recoverable by virtue of the last foregoing paragraph, and fines incurred by virtue of this Schedule in relation to a nuisance to which this Schedule applies, may be recovered either in a summary manner or in the High Court or county court; and where, in any proceedings against two or more persons in respect of such a nuisance, it is proved that the nuisance was caused by the acts, defaults or sufferance of more than one of those persons, the court before which the proceedings are taken may, in imposing any fine or making any order as to costs or expenses, apportion the amount of the fine or of the costs or expenses, in such proportions as the court thinks just, between the persons by whose acts, defaults or sufferance the nuisance was caused.

20. Complaint of the existence on any premises of a nuisance to which this Schedule applies may be made by any person to a petty sessional court, and thereupon the like proceedings shall be had, with the like incidence and consequence as to making of orders, fines for disobedience of orders, appeals and otherwise, as in the case of a like complaint by the sanitary authority :

Provided that the court, if it thinks fit—

- (a) may adjourn the hearing or further hearing of the complaint for the purpose of having an examination made of the premises where the nuisance is alleged to exist, and may authorise any constable or other person to enter the premises for that purpose; and
- (b) may authorise any constable or other person to do all necessary acts for enforcing any order made on the complaint, and to recover the expenses of so doing in a summary manner from the person as respects whom the order is made.

Any constable or other person authorised under this paragraph shall have the like powers and be subject to the like restrictions as if he were an officer of the sanitary authority authorised under the foregoing provisions of this Schedule to enter premises and do any acts thereon.

21. A sanitary authority may, if, in their opinion, summary proceedings would afford an inadequate remedy, cause proceedings to be taken against any person in the High Court for the abatement or prohibition of any nuisance to which this Schedule applies, or for the recovery of any fine from, or for the punishment of, any person offending under the provisions of this Schedule relating to such nuisances as aforesaid.

22. Where a nuisance to which this Schedule applies affecting the inhabitants of the district of a sanitary authority appears to be wholly or partly caused by some act, default or sufferance occurring outside their district (whether within or outside the county), the sanitary authority may take or cause to be taken against any person, in respect of that act, default or sufferance any proceedings in relation to nuisances authorised by this Schedule, as if the act, default or sufferance had occurred within their district; so, however, that summary proceedings shall in no case be taken otherwise than before a court having jurisdiction in the district within which the act or omission is alleged to have occurred.

For the purpose of proceedings which may be taken under this paragraph by a sanitary authority in respect of a nuisance wholly or partly caused by some act, default or sufferance occurring outside the county, the expression “ nuisance to which this Schedule applies ” in this paragraph shall be construed as including a nuisance within the meaning of the Public Health Act, 1875.
